EXHIBITIONS

Permanent Echoes:
Reflections on Black History
on View through May 5

PERMANENT ECHOES
REFLECTIONS ON BLACK HISTORY

Opening February 1 for Black History Month and on view through May 5, the Everhart Museum is proud to present Permanent Echoes: Reflections on Black History as an acknowledgement of the people who have had a lasting impact on not only Black history, but also history in general. The names listed on banners throughout the gallery are of those who contributed to society in the realms of science, entrepreneurship, entertainment, sports, education, politics, and more.

This immersive installation asks visitors to recognize the individuals included and view themselves in the context of the history represented in this space.

Perception >=< Perspective Open through May 26

Come As You Are by Phoebe Beasley

In Perception >=< Perspective, there are not any discussions of the work, or the artist. The interpretation is left to the viewer. Works have been chosen based on our interpretations of how they may connect. However, you are the moderator of your feelings toward the works. It is your perception, your perspective.

It is said that beauty is in the eye of the beholder. Art, like beauty, speaks on a personal level. A work of art one person connects to, or finds comfort in, is often lost to another person viewing the same work. Artists are also part of this equation. It is their vision that produced the work, but once it leaves the studio their original idea and interpretation are truly left up to the viewer.
